

R Bootcamp for Scientific Computing 2022

What

As you know, at the Department of Population and Public Health Sciences, each year, the Division of Biostatistics offers “The R Bootcamp”.

The Bootcamp consists of three lectures by R-savvy volunteers who will give attendees a general overview of the R programming language, including examples and tips from people working in the health sciences.

When

The event consists of three lectures (held in SSB-114 from 10am-12pm):

Tuesday (8/16)	Lecture 1: R for data management and visualization
Wednesday (8/17)	Lecture 2: Creating reproducible reports using R Markdown; Basic programming in R
Thursday (8/18)	Lecture 3: R on the HPC and parallel computing

An “Introduction to R” Day 0 Zoom will be offered for those who have no prior experience using R on Monday 8/15 at 3pm.

RSVP and More info

While we are focusing on incoming M.S. and Ph.D. students, PPHS faculty and staff are also invited to participate. Please RSVP here

(https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1A9uT0arKb_J54A4d6C85DOPOpNT_yGFG9vlvrVpXr7I/). Space is limited to the first 45 participants.

For more details, please send an email to Eric Kawaguchi (ekawaguc@usc.edu)